Opportunities

The Europe District delivers engineering solutions to support U.S. national security interests in Europe and Africa. Our strength is a unity and sense of purpose fueled by the talent, passion and resilience of our People. They build relationships, oversee vital projects and help modernize USACE as the command adapts and overcomes evolving challenges in a complex environment across two continents and two Combatant Commands. Our stakeholders and end users rely on USACE buildings and infrastructure to carry out their important missions. Projects in Eastern Europe, particularly in Poland, Romania, Bulgaria and the Baltics, delivered over the past several years are playing a key role in strengthening NATO, reassuring our allies, contributing to readiness, developing capacity, improving interoperability, and deterring aggression. These projects range from helping field integrated weapons systems, improving runways to upgrading base infrastructure, training ranges, and facilities that benefit not only U.S. forces but our Partners and Allies.
